

Resolved, that: The New York State Council of Health-system Pharmacists supports the recommendation for all institutions that utilize ADCs to minimize and monitor medication overrides by implementing best practice guidelines and policies to promote safe ADC use and ensure that this technology is being optimized to promote safe patient outcomes.

Date: January 31, 2022

By:

Amisha Arya, PharmD, BCSCP, CJCP

Pauline Bae, PharmD, MHA

Emily Messing, PharmD, BCPS

References

1. Cohen MR, ed. Medication errors. 2nd edition. Washington (DC): American Pharmacological Association; 2007.
2. Grissinger, Matthew. Medication Errors Involving Overrides of Healthcare Technology, vol. 12, no. 4, Dec. 2015, pp. 141–148.
3. American Society of Health-System Pharmacist Practice Resource for Automated Dispensing Cabinet Overrides. patient-safety-practice-resource-for-automated-dispensing-cabinet-overrides.ashx (ashp.org). Last Accessed 7/20/21
4. ISMP Guidelines for the Safe Use of Automated ... - Omnicell. https://www.omnicell.com/PDFs/Point-of-Care/ISMP170-ADC%20Guideline-020719_final.pdf.
5. "Guidelines for the Safe Use of Automated Dispensing Cabinets." Institute For Safe Medication Practices, 7 Feb. 2019, <https://www.ismp.org/resources/guidelines-safe-use-automated-dispensing-cabinets>.
6. The Joint Commission Hospital Accreditation Requirements, Medication Management MM.08.01.01 EP 16. The Joint Commission©. Last Revised July 1, 2021